

If you have trouble viewing this email, go to <http://www.library.okstate.edu/news/dean/index.htm>.

In this Update

- Call for OSU Book Authors
- Mango Languages
- Changes to SciFinder Scholar

Read more OSU Library News

For the latest library events, visit our calendar

Call for OSU Book Authors

Each spring, the Library honors OSU employees who have produced a book or major creative work in the past two years. In order to recognize these works, we need to identify the faculty and staff who have produced them.

To be included in the 2011 honorees, please complete the online form.

Read More

Mango Languages

Mango is a foreign language learning system now available through the OSU Library website. The software provides step-by-step tutorials for 22 languages using a combination of images, text and sound. It is available free to OSU students, staff and faculty.

Try Mango now.

Changes to Scifinder Scholar

SciFinder has gone web-based, allowing you to browse CAS literature on a variety of disciplines from anywhere, with no download required.

Read more

On the Library Calendar

Fri 1/14-Mon 1/17: MLK Weekend Hours

Tue, Jan 25, 6:30 pm: Book Discussion: Silent Spring by Rachel Carson approved

Tue, Feb 15, 6:30 pm: Book Discussion: My First Summer in the Sierra by John Muir

Tue, Feb 22, 11:30am: Celebrating Books by OSU Authors

Tue, Mar 8, 6:30pm: Book Discussion: Rising from the Plains by John McPhee

Library Updates will be forwarded to OSU faculty each month; an archive of these updates can be found at <http://www.library.okstate.edu/news/dean>. If you do not wish to receive future Library Updates via email, please unsubscribe to LIBRARYUPDATE-L.